BREED THEATRE.

"The Scarlet Woman" With Mme. Petrova, the Peerless Emotional Actress in the Stellar Role Featured To-

Wonderful Mme. Petrova, whose marvelous powers of pantomine and emotional expression have so often thriged and delighted Metro audiences, again makes her bow from the screen and will be seen at the Breed I theatre today and Saturday in a veritable photoplay masterpiece. The Sceriet Woman. Rarely, if ever, has this gifted artiste found a vehicle so well suited to her distinctive charms and supreme dramatic gifts as this latest product of the Metro studio. The senario of The Scarlet Woman is from the brilliant pen of the talented playwright, Aaron Hoffman, wao is the author of The Soul Market, What Will People Say, and Flaying With Fire. The Scarlet Woman surpasses in dramatic power and startling situations in each of these tremendously populations and surpasses.

a new high standard for Mr. Hoffman's contributions to the silent drama. To see it, is to see wonderful Mme. Petrova in a role that will be a revelation to her most ardent admirers. Mme. Petrova is surrounded by an exceptionally strong supporting cast, headed by Arthur Hoops, who plays the leading male role, and is one of America's most distinguished actors. He has appeared with nearly every star of any importance upon the spenking stage and before coming to the Metro was leading man for Mary Pickford.

The Scarlet Wuman is a vital drama of New York society and the Great White Way and in the production mere than two hundred persons are shown in many scenes, including ballet dancers and carabet entertainers, who appear in a big restaurant scene. The most faithful reproductions of Broadway ille ever made for the acrene are shown in The Scarlet Woman.

Completing the bill for today and Safarday the Breed will also present the Metra travelocue and a very fromy comedy. Love Me, Love My Dog, featuring the famous comedian, Max Figman. new nigh standard for Mr. Hoffman's

May Robson at The Davis Tonight. If patrons who are bothered with he servant problem and spend weeks and often months getting maids; and if the business man who finds it one of the most difficult problems of his business hiring capable assistants would only learn the secret which May Robson, who will appear at the Da-vis theatre tonight, in her new play, "The Making Over of Mrs. Matt," uses "The Making Over of Mrs. Matt," uses in choosing her company, their troubles would be solved. In all the years Miss Robson has been starring, she has never been called upon to dismiss a member of her company. Miss Robson was once asked if her methods could be applied to business, and replied: "I think if a business man sees the least bit of intelligence, in an applicant, and if he is willing to enter man should not be given every oppor-tunity. Because when one is doing all one can in the best way, what is there to be done, and who can ask for more? Prices 25c to $1.50.

AT THE MAJESTIC ROOF

Tenth Episode of Mysteries of Myra

ery Friday and Saturday at the Auditorium theatre for some time past will be continued on the screen atop the Majestic roof, starting today and showing every Friday and Saturday for the remainder of the season. The picture is taken from the story running in the Sunday Boston and New York Americans and features Jeon Scuthern and Howard Estairook. Other photopiays on today's bill are Who Scuthern and Howard Estaticale. Other photopiays on today's bill are Who Killed Joe Merrion. a four part Vitagraph preduction and When Hooligan and Doelisan Ran for Mayor, a very fanny comedy. The crowd is steadily increasing on the roof nightly and much interest is being taken in the dancing, music for which is furnished by Jacobs New York Society Orchestra. Next week a cabaret show will

POETRY

THE NEGLECTED CALL.

'Heart," I said to my heart, 'life's not neart, I said to my heart, "life's not a battle;
No word has come to us to fight—to slay—
To tllt at other hearts, nor yet at shadows.
"Heart," I said to my heart, "let's just—today—
Lie cheek-deep in field-daisies, so and listen

listen To what June has to say." "Heart," I said to my heart, "why should we, shouting,
Wave high a sword, and spur against a shade?
Let's just be glad, then, that the pink is showing
In all the bulky rosebuds down the glade.
Our duty's just to chatter with the blackbirds;
Or why was springtime made?

"Heart," I said to my heart, "let's dress. What matter
If fools break lances with the stars tonight?"
There is no music in a groan, no beauty
In gaping wounds—shall these profane our sight?"

"Heart," I said to my heart, then, in a whisper,
"Let's both go back and fight!"
-Mary Carolyn Davies.

THE MARTYRS' HYMN.

Flung to the heedless winds, or on the waters cast,
The martyrs' ashes watched shall gathered be at last;
And from that scattered dust, around us and abroad
Shall spring a plenteous seed of witnesses for God.
